VOL. IV. NO. 210. CHICAGO, SUNDAY AND MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4-5, 1898. PRICE, 5 CENTS

THE DEVIL'S JACKSON HANDICAP.

Dante, when on his famous trip, probably so improved his vocabulary while witnessing the races of the damned as to furnish matter to be copied when describing the condition of things yesterday at Harlem. But as the phraseology of the great Italian escapes the memory of the horse reporter, it can only be stated that even the denizens of Hades would have been inconvenienced and, therefore, have petitioned the regnant power to commute the sentence of the oven to the torture of icicles on the spine, for the heat was sufficient to drive even a tout into the shade. For the fourth consecutive day the sun had unmolestedly shot his rays into a defenceless grandstand and betting ring so that the stanchions of iron could not be touched with impunity. There was breeze enough, but it did not come from the right direction. Yet the closing day of Harlem's fortnight furnished the best fixture of the meeting in the Jackson Handicap, 1 1/16 miles, for three-year-olds (worth $1,020 to the winner, $200 to the second horse and $100 to the third horse), engaged were some animals having pretensions to the name of "stake horses."

Sydney Paget's colors (sky blue—brown cap) showed for the first time in Chicago on Ruskin in the first race.

There were more bookmakers doing business than ever before this year at Harlem, twenty-three regulars cutting in for the last day, while the usual pair of dollar books was on. The crowd was a big one and speculators went to work as if the weather conditions cut no figure with bank rolls. There was a strong play on W. C. T. while Dunois always held the post of favorite. Diggs made a leap of 100 per cent. in price and Indra followed suit. Madrilene, opening too low, finally was steady at 4 to 1. One bad race popped George H. Ketcham to a false price and Dave S, the winner of many a race at Fort Erie, was peddled out at 25 to 1. To an elegant start, Indra in the rear of the bunch, Dave S ran right away from the others. Lew Hopper broke quickest, but George H. Ketcham soon passed him. After covering three-eighths the order was, Dave S, George H. Ketcham and Lew Hopper, the trio being clear of the others. Rounding the far turn, Dunois ran to second place, but into the straight Dave S had a commanding lead. Here, directly behind George H. Ketcham and Lew Hopper in fifth position ran Borden, between which horse and the bunch behind there was daylight: Dunois gradually gained on Dave S, but as "Skeets" sent the favorite to the whip at the last sixteenth, Dave S seemed sure to last the race out. But, in a ride Martin outclasses Aker and Dunois beat the long shot by the closest of margins. The third place was a guess, as Borden, Diggs, George H. Ketcham and Locust Blossom fought it out, the latter winning.

First Tenor was off in front to a good start for all but Little Minch Jr., who was left at the post. Arthur McKnight headed First Tenor on the turn, only to be dispossessed by Antiquary, who struck first into the home stretch. Arthur McKnight now gave it up finishing sixth. First Tenor came on when ready and passed Antiquary, but Boney Boy, who had failed to stay up in front as he usually does and came fifth into the home stretch, now came along and hundred yards from the wire headed First Tenor, but J. Woods not getting scared, held the latter well together and he was first passing the judges in a close finish with Boney Boy, Antiquary finished third. Iris was close up. She had been backed from 4 1/2 down to 3 to 1. Lucille Bramble was close to Iris. Bloss was backed from 30 down to 10 to 1.

The Jackson Handicap was spoiled by the scratching of Bannockburn and John Bright, the horses of highest class, while St. Alfonses D., Pingree, Eva Rice and Eddie Jones also refusing reduced the number of starters to four. Of these Azucena opened at 3 to 5, while 3 to 1 The Devil, 4 to 1 Uarda and 20 to 1 King's Highway was posted. Uarda ran in the name and colors of J. J. Donovan, her new owner. Just at post time, when Azucena stood at 4 to 5, the judge rang his bell and J. McDonald's name was substituted for that of Conley on the favorite. The bets stood, and the only change was the shrinkage in price of Azucena to 7 to 10. Off at the first attempt, nearly abreast, King's Highway and Azucena ran paired for one-half mile. The Devil close up, third. Rose now called on the latter and his horse at once went to the front. McDonald tried to keep up with Azucena, but The Devil led at the last quarter by four lengths. At the last eighth the favorite closed somewhat, but Rose, taking no chances, went past the judges riding hard, although away ahead. At the half-mile ground Uarda was "absolutely," ten lengths behind The Devil, but she came fast through the home stretch and necked out Azucena. It looked as if J. Reiff could not get Uarda going. Thus fizzled out that which on paper before the withdrawals promised to be an exciting horse race.

Abuse laid off second to Mary Black until Bloss got ready, when, in the home stretch, and given his head, he "laughed by" Mary Black, who, until then, had led at the last sixteenth, and won as he pleased. Summer Sea was within two lengths of Abuse to the last turn, Timemaker being last by four lengths up the back stretch. Schorr's horse made a strong bid on the end, but Mary Black beat him for place. Timemaker was very heavily backed for place, although at the opening of the betting Mary Black was the favorite. The start given Timemaker was unfavorably criticised. That the horse must have been off his stride is shown by the way he was outrun the first part of the journey.

Storm King, running free, was kept under restraint by J. Reiff and so for about five-eighths of a mile Imp was able to stay alongside. Here David Tenny was two lengths behind the leaders, he having gained a like distance on What Next. David Tenny took second place turning for home, but whipped out he could never reach the favorite, which horse won with his ears pricked. Imp was last pulled up.

Deyo went off in front, Moncreith second, Plantain third and Candelaria fourth, the start being an excellent one. Deyo raced in front to the half mile ground, where Plantain was a close second, and three lengths further back were lying Topmast and Moncreith, the favorite fifth. Plantain passed Deyo on the upper turn, the last named dying away to nothing. Topmast held his position, but Moncreith was soon done and Treachery moved up. Topmast caught Plantain at the last eighth, Bradley's horse showed a willingness to go on, but Rose could not help him much and in a locked finish he was beaten. J. McDonald had moved up with the favorite and took the rails at the last turn. Candelaria got to Plantain's haunches at the last sixteenth and there finished, it looking as if, could he have gotten through, he must have won. Treachery was close up on the outside. Candelaria's number went up for third place, but it was taken down and Treachery given the third money. Jack of Hearts was beaten an eighth of a mile.

So closed a two-weeks stretch of hard luck for the Harlem folk. By September 19, when racing is here resumed, the cool weather will have come, and this will materially add to the track's patronage. Hawthorne opens Monday—"Back to the green fields of Erin."

It seems strange that neither John Bright nor Bannockburn should be started for the Jackson Handicap. The race proved that either of them would most likely have won. Azucena and The Devil had hit before, the former winning at Washington Park through a bad ride on the other. As against that performance, The Devil yesterday had five pounds the better of the weights. Knowing this, form players were "kissed off," because of a rumor that The Devil was sick.

Nick Hall, reported to have said unkind things because Canace was beaten by Ostra, Friday, explained as follows: "No one ever heard me kick because my horse lost a race. In this case, however, I was sore because Canace showed she had been cut by the assistant starter's whip. I know she is not a bad acting filly, and were she, no man has a right to draw blood on a horse."

John Rodegop said: "I saw John Bright at Hawthorne recently. He looks far from good; is tucked up and jaded. His handlers say he does not like the Harlem track—it is too hard. Some horses are that way. As to Bannockburn, he did not pull up right in his work the other morning." Later reports are to the effect that both Bannockburn and Eddie Jones are broken down.

The trainer of Azucena was responsible for the change of jockey. It seems he had tried to get McDonald, but the boy was slated to ride another horse in the Jackson Handicap. This animal being scratched, the Azucena man asked Colonel Clark to let him change from Conley to McDonald and the judge obliged him.

Pat Dunne said: "It is a great injustice for persons around a racetrack to imagine things. Now Bannockburn is not broken down. He threw a plate the other morning and pulled up lame."

Judge Clark Saturday reinstated Jockey Tabor. The boy will be allowed to ride anywhere he pleases, but not in front of Col. Clark.

WHAT "SOL'S" JOKE COST HIM.

"Tommy" Shannon, who was known to fame a few years ago as "the boy bookmaker," has been a pretty close follower of Jockey "Tod" Sloan during the past few months, and his faith in that young man has added considerably to his bank account.

Mr. Shannon has not only bet on Sloan's mounts, but follows him in other ways. For instance, when Mr. Sloan turns up his trousers Mr. Shannon follows suit. Mr. Shannon no longer inquires what the odds are on a horse which he fancies, but instead asks, "what's about?" so and so. He borrowed the expression from Sydney Paget and "Tod" Sloan, and considers that it must be all right. It's English at any rate. All of which reminds me of a little conversation which occurred in the betting ring at Sheephead Bay the other day.

Mr. Shannon went into the ring with $1,700 to place on Damien at the prevailing odds. He intended to scatter it about the ring. "Sol" Lichtenstein was the first bookmaker he encountered.

"What's about Damien?" asked Shannon.

"What's about Damien?" repeated Lichtenstein. "Why, I reckon there's a couple of darkeys about him just now, getting him ready for the race."

And Mr. Lichtenstein laughed. The joke was on Shannon up to this point.

"Well, Mr. Funnyman," said Mr. Shannon, "what odds are you laying against Damien?"

"Three to one," said Mr. Lichtenstein. "Just give me $1,700 worth of that," said Mr. Shannon.

And after he cashed in $8,800, Shannon remarked:

"If 'Sol' hadn't kidded me, I'd have bet most of the money with other bookmakers."—Morning Telegraph.

MATTHEW DAWSON.

Matthew Dawson, perhaps the most famous and successful trainer known in the history of the English turf, died August 17. The Spirit of The Times gives this outline of his career:

"Like others who have made a name on the turf, Matthew Dawson came from Scotland, having been born at Gullane in Haddingtonshire, January 20, 1820. By heredity he was fitted to be a trainer, as he was a son of George Dawson, who trained for Lord Kelburne, Sir J. Boswell, Mr. Meiklane, Mr. Bell and others.

"Matthew Dawson received his earliest lessons in stable management, training and breeding in his father's stables. When quite a young man he went to Lord Eglinton as private trainer, but the stud was hardly up to his idea of what race horses should be, and he soon returned to Gullane to work under his father.

"The stable enjoyed fair, if not brilliant luck, but the first really good horse that came into his hands was Hobbie Noble, possibly Pantaloon's best son. The first 'classic' race for which Matthew Dawson trained a winner was the Oaks in 1853, won by Catherine Hayes, by Lanercroft. The same year her stable mate, Reins, was second in the St. Leger. In 1858, when Lord John Scott decided to give up racing, on the recommendation of Matthew Dawson, the stable was purchased by Mr. James Merry. The first Derby winner that Dawson had charge of was Thormanby, who won in 1860.

"Soon afterwards he set up an establishment at Newmarket and his boxes were soon tenanted by horses belonging to some of the best men of the turf, but his instant success came when Lord Falmouth became his patron, and for a dozen years beginning in 1870 his skill and judgment were amply rewarded. He may be almost said to have monopolized the classic races. His success was not confined to English race courses, as he trained Trent, who won the Grand Prix in 1874.

"In 1884 Lord Falmouth's phenomenal sale took place. Matthew Dawson, however, did not lack for patrons. He trained for the Dukes of Portland and St. Albans, Lords Londonderry and Hastings, Mr. Robert Vyner and others, so that he had the training of St. Simon, whom he considered the best horse he ever saw, as well as the best he ever trained. In 1885 there came another change. As he began to feel the cares of so large an establishment, he installed his nephew at the head of the place, and went to Exning, intending to train a few horses for his own amusement. His name reappeared in the list of trainers in 1888. Among his patrons were Lord Falmouth, who had temporarily returned to the turf; Mr. R. Vyner, Lord Fitzwilliam, Mr. Fern, the Duke of St. Albans, Lord Ilchester and Lord Strafford. Afterward Mr. Noel Fenwick and Lord Rosebery intrusted their horses to him, and he had wonderful success, notably with the horses of the latter. He trained Minthe, winner of the One Thousand Guineas in 1889, and Mimi, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and Oaks in 1891.

"In the course of his long career the horses trained by Matthew Dawson won six Derbys, with Thormanby, Kingcraft, Silvio, Melton, Ladas and Sir Visto; five Oaks; seven St. Legers, with Sunbeam, Silvio, Jannette, Dutch Oven, The Lambkin, Melton and St. Visto; five Two Thousand Guineas, and five One Thousand Guineas, in addition to many other stakes, not unimportant in themselves, but still not classic races.

"He was what is somewhat remarkable in a trainer, an excellent scholar and a man of letters. His name was never connected with action or undertaking which was not thoroughly honest. The English racing world has cause to regret the death of such a man as Matthew Dawson."

CALIFORNIA JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

The attention of horsemen is called to the terms of the ten California Jockey Club stakes displayed in DAILY RACING FORM's advertising department. The California winter racing season is now hardly second in importance to the summer racing on eastern tracks. The San Francisco stakes and purses are on a very liberal scale and the fact that the two clubs there afford nearly seven months of continuous racing deservedly makes the place grow year by year in the esteem and consideration of turfmen east of the Rocky mountains. The Oakland track has no superior in this country in natural beauty or perfect appointments. The California Jockey Club is one of the best organized and managed racing corporations in the United States. It is mainly due to its energetic president, Thomas H. Williams Jr., that California racing occupies its present high plane and that turfmen can now make hay in the winter as well as in the summer.

The stakes now advertised close September 26. Notice is given of an additional list of sixteen to close later on, with the opulent $10,000 Burns Handicap heading the list. Entry blanks can be obtained from DAILY RACING FORM and turfmen designing a campaign on the Coast should lose no time in obtaining a set.

Winner—B. c. 4, by Florist—Becky B.
Post 3 minutes. Start fair. Won in a long, hard drive; second, third and fourth were driving just as hard. Dunois was the best in the race, but had to be hard ridden all the way. The displayed great gameness and Martin's ride is deserving of much praise. He was hard at work with the whip the last half mile. Dave S. was played at a liberal price and off well on his ride, ran a good race. At the head of the stretch he seemed to have Dunois beaten, but lacked the speed to stall off Dunois' rush. Locust Blossom, off in the rear division, and interfered with ten, came with a rush the last three eighths. This filly seems to be unfortunate in getting away. Ketcham ran as if short, going all to pieces when the pinch came. Madriene ran far show her mark. She was all tangled up, though, at the start, and that accounts for it. Lew Hopper was off flying and had no excuses. W C T's race was disappointing. He was heavily layed.

Scratched—Lucid, 102; Afamada, 101; Warren Point, 105; Dr. Marks, 99; Bryan, 105; Muskaine, 102.
Dunois, place, even; show, 1 to 2. Dave S., place, 10 to 1; show, 5 to 1. Locust Blossom, show, 2 to 1.

Winner—B. c. by Falsetto—Pearl Thorne.
Post 2 minutes. Start fair. Won cleverly; second whipped out; third and fourth driving hard. First Tenor is a grand looking colt and judging from this race he is a fast runner, too. Woods handled him nicely and although the colt tried his hardest to run out on the stretch turn the boy managed to keep him in and then he galloped over Boney Boy the last sixteenth. The latter is a most consistent youngster. He was sharply cut off on the far turn and was almost thrown. After that Bloss showed judgment. He hugged the rails and got through nicely when the natural spread came at the head of the stretch. Antiquary had clear sailing and showed a sharp turn of speed. Arthur McKnight was the one that interfered with Boney Boy. By doing so he got a clear path. That explains his being so close up as he was the first part of it. Lucille Bramble ran a fair race. She was bumped and jostled from the same source that Boney Boy's interference came.

Scratched—Nora Ives, 95; Little Rosey, 90.
Overweights—Lucille Bramble, 24 pounds; Kittie Mc, 5.
First Tenor, place, 2 to 1; show, even. Boney Boy, place, even; show, 2 to 5. Antiquary, show, 2 to 1.

260 THIRD RACE—1 1-16 Mile. 3-year-olds. The Jackson Handicap. $1,000 added. value to winner $100; $50 entrance; $200 to second; $100 to third.

Winner—B. c. by Major Richards—Patagonia.
Off at first break to a good start. Won well in hand; it was a terrific drive for the place and a very close fit. As the race was run and at the weights, The Devil was the best. He was right on edge and had the race at his mercy after going the first half mile. Azucena could not handle the weight. She was not ridden the way she runs her best, either. As a general rule this filly drops in behind and makes her run in the stretch. McDonald tried to get her to the front from the first jump and before a half mile was covered it was easily seen that the filly was beaten. Conley was scheduled to ride Azucena, but before post time the judges substituted J. McDonald. Uarda, badly outrun the first part of it, finished with a rush. She would have beaten Azucena for the place in another stride. Considering the way that The Devil and Azucena hitched up the last time they met, the price on The Devil was extremely long.

Scratched—St. Alfonso's D, 90; Bannockburn, 106; Pingree, 102; Eva Rice, 90; John Bright, 115; Eddie Jones, 97.
The Devil, place, 4 to 5.
Fourth Race—3-4 mile. 3-year-olds and upward. Allowances. Purses $400; value to winner $300; $75 to second; $25 to third.

Winner—B. h. 5, by Plevna—Abukru.
Post 8 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving and out to the last ounce. Abuse, who seems to be unbeatable just now, was the best and galloped over Mary Black on call. This old horse seems to have anything at the track cinched at three-quarters. Bloss rides him to perfection, too. Mary Black looked fine after her rest and had her usual amount of speed. There was no chance for her, though, to stall off Abuse's winning rush in the stretch. Time maker was coming strong at the finish, too, after being badly outrun the first part of it. Summer Sea showed some speed. Mark her for lower class company.
Scratched—Montgomery, 104.
Mary Black, place, 9 to 10.

Winner—Blk. c. 4, by Whistle Jacket—Grenadine.
Off first break to a good start. Won easily; second driving to the limit. Storm King repeated his performance of Wednesday. Under the light weight he led with ease all the way. Imp hung close to him for three-quarters but he had heart enough to stall her off and when David Tenny came to him in the stretch the black horse drew away from him as easily as he did from Imp on the far turn. David Tenny ran a good race himself. He was well ridden too, Martin saving every bit of ground possible. What Next made up some ground at the end but Imp stopped badly. She is nowhere near herself.
Overweights—What Next, 2 pounds.
Place, David Tenny, 4 to 5.

Post 2 minutes. Start good. It was a driving flail. Conley outfinished Rose. Candelaria was far the best. With anything like a good ride he could not have lost. McDonald is daring enough and knows the shortest way around the track, but at the head of the stretch he tried to get through an impossible hole and was naturally cut off. Rose, on Plantain, was wise enough to let Candelaria get half way through between him and the rail and then pulled over. This pocketed Candelaria entirely, and although he had speed left there was no chance to use it. Conley came with a rush on the outside of Plantain and won in the very last stride. When McDonald made his run on the turn he bumped into and knocked Treachery off her stride. This explains the disqualification. Plantain was a good horse in the race. Rose made his run too quick. Topmast was in a good position all the way. He pulled up lame. Moncreith has worked well. He likes the Hawthorne track, and deserves attention the first time out over that course. Deyo was used up by pacemaking and tired badly. It was a good race.

Scratched—Queen Sadie, 98; Brother Fred, 98; Martia K, 101; Charina, 100.
Overweights—Jack of Hearts, 3 pounds; Deerfoot, 4.

Winner—B. f. 4, by Candelmas—Maggie Mitchell.
Start straggling. Won driving. Lady Mitchell was best. She came like a whirlwind at the end and is at her best. Lambent, badly bumped through the entire stretch, finished with wonderful gameness. PEEP O'DAY also suffered from crowding the last eighth. He finished strong and ran a grand race considering his weight and a delay of thirty minutes at the post. Martha's weight and the long delay hurt her chances, but she ran impressively. The Kentuckian and Armament showed extreme speed. Both stopped right at the end. Their's was a good showing, however, on the whole. The others had but a very slight chance at the start and were pulled up.

Start straggling. Won easily. Gala Day was easily the best. She is a quick breaker and likes the grass course. She had all the luck of the race. Octave closed strong from a bad begin- ning. Scotch Plaid ran a fine race. Charentus had no excuses, but may have been short. Long Acre, on the outside at the start and with no headwork on the part of his jockey, ran as expected. He was coming fast when too late. Rossifer showed great speed, but stopped badly. He is very good. Rondo would not run at all. General Maceo ran poorly.

Start fair. Won driving. Martimas was best. He set his own pace with the top weight and came away at the end very strongly. Through bad handling at the end he was allowed to swerve badly but hurt no one but himself apparently. Autumn ran a game race. He suffered in the stretch from crowding and showed great courage at the finish. Frohsinn, lucky and well handled, ran his race. Ethelbert was crowded and bumped all the last three-eighths and ran impressively. Kingdon, off badly, had little chance with his jockey. Filigrane ran well and Duke of Middleburg ran badly. Jean Beraud fell out of the race at once. He was climbing throughout and showed no speed whatever. He appeared to have forgotten how to run. W. Overton, a very fast beginner, had no chance where he got off at the start, being on the rail and Burns unable to place him. Finding no opening Overton ran into pockets innumerable. He was shut off and knocked completely out of the race at the half. Throw his race out altogether.

Winner—Ch. c. 4, by Topgallant—Equality.
Start fair. Won easily. Algol outclassed his field and is a grand racehorse. He has ap- parently recovered his best two-year-old form. He galloped his field to pieces. At that, The Huguenot got a lethargic ride. He lost at the start and Spencer went to sleep on the first turn, allowing Algol to steal a long lead. He closed a big gap and finished very strong and was easily second best. Bangle got a strong ride and was generally lucky. At that he shows steady im- provement. George Keene wants soft going and doesn't like over a mile in the best company. Floronso was killed off after tackling the pacemaker, Algol. He stayed with him about seven- eighths and stopped and appeared to be badly beaten, but came again. Pink Coat closed strong from a bad beginning and got a generally unlucky ride. He was, moreover, undoubtedly short. Damien performed badly when opposed to so much speed. He must have the speed of his field always to do his best. Sailor King was outclassed. He looks good and ran well.
Scratched—Jefferson, 89.

Start good. Won driving. Helen Thomas was well handled and lucky. She finished strong and was probably the best. The Lady in Blue ran finely and will improve. She is a good looker. Veracious is also a fine looker and showed a lot of speed. Anitra is of little account and wants a shorter trip. Freak closed ground. Mark Miles also prefers a shorter route. The big field makes the form of this race as to the rear ones very unreliable.
